Natural Bridge Social News.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NATURAL BRIDGE, VA., October 3.—Bro. Fox and the Harmon are both getting ripe just now; the possum hunts the persimmon, and man hunts the possum, so these nights have witnessed some lively sports and judging from the engagements of which one hears, the pursuit is just beginning.

Some of the more conservative sports have been making daily pilgrimages to the Mountain of a Thousand Oaks in pursuit of the wily squirrel, who is gathering his winter supplies of nuts and acorns there.

Mr. Charles D. Larus, of Richmond, has been one of the most successful in bringing home a well-filled bag.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Aiston Cabell and their charming daughter, Miss Alice, are a most winsome maid, and endears herself to all who know her.

Richmond has furnished a full quota of beautiful and charming women this season, but none more admired than Mrs. Charles D. Larus, who would hold a place in any beauty book, either in this country or abroad.

Mrs. L. W. Burrell, Mrs. Edwin C. Laird and Master Edwin C. Laird, Jr., of Richmond, are making many friends.

The summer season brings many guests from the South, and as soon as the leaves begin to turn, come the visitors from the North. Yesterday brought upwards of forty from up Boston way.

William Paxton Burks, of Wheeling, W. Va., who takes his annual holiday here, is enjoying all the autumn glories and seems happy in renewing old ties.

Colonel and Mrs. Robert K. Evans, U. S. A., have made a prolonged stay at Natural Bridge. Colonel Evans is now stationed at the War College in Washington, but for a long period was military attaché at the court of Emperor William at Berlin.
